Añejo

A is a feast of taste sensations and aromatic harmony that speak to us of its complexity. The great presence of wood in nose and mouth is persistent. The sweet notes are not overwhelming enough to the point that they allow the Agave to express itself.

The blend between American and French barrels made a perfect marriage since we did not nd any totally dened, they were gladly combined creating, among others own notes of sherry or bourbon towards the fruity side. In addition to being an honest tequila when it comes to aromas and avor, it is a sensitive experience.

Aroma: At first nose, oak, green apple, earthy notes and tropical fruits stand out. As it evolves, the oak is persistent, where aromas of cinnamon, olive, tobacco, praline, cherry and vanilla appear.
Body: Golden yellow color, bright copper ashes.
Light body with medium tears fell slowly.
Mouth: The sensation is spicy but at the same time slightly sweet, eervescent and with a medium astringency.
The oak avor with chocolat stands out, delicate notes of cherry vanilla, tobacco, dulce de leche.
The aftertaste is intense and long lasting.
Age: 24 months.
Barrel: Blend of french oak and american oak.

In the evolution: Caramel, oak, toasted corn.
Continue evolving to tropical fruits like jackfruit and mango. There are notes of moss, old wood and light hints of cocoa.

Mouth: Spicyness and sparklin sensation. The unctuousness stands out, which in comun produce a soft and a pleasant experience in the mouth. Drying sensation and medium astringency,
